Ford Boom Begins To Create a Storm

Washington Politicians Review His Chances and See in Hearst's Endorsement a Blow to His Aspirations.

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)

WASHINGTON, May 29.—The Ford-for-President movement is causing much discussion in Washington today. Innumerable expressed here today was to the effect that the endorsement of Ford as an independent candidate for President by William Randolph Hearst was likely to do Ford's chances more harm than good.

One story told in Washington is that George Brennan, who succeeded the late Roger Sullivan as head of the Cook county Democratic of Illinois had promised Mr. Hearst to help him nominate the man of Mr. Hearst's choice for President in 1924. Mr. Brennan, according to the story, was grateful to Mr. Hearst for the help given by his Chicago newspaper to the Cook county Democratic ticket recently.

There is an inclination here to credit the story, but politicians cannot visualize Brennan as having gone so far as to promise Mr. Hearst that he would support a Hearst candidate for President on an independent ticket.

Some of the opposition to the Ford-for-President proposal among eastern democrats was furnished today by the comment of Senator Edward J. Edwards, former governor of New Jersey, who defeated Senator Joseph R. E. Ransdell, a Republican, in the elections of last November.

"Why he's no Democrat," exclaimed Senator Edwards when he was asked as to his opinion of the Ford movement, "he's a Republican. He won't have him. He is just like Hoover in 1920."

Hoover didn't know what party he belonged to and no more does Ford today. Does anyone know whether he is a democrat or a republican? Let him run or a third ticket if he wants. I guess that's where he belongs. They say all his automobile agents are going around boosting for him and that he has an organization no other candidate can compete with. If I know anything about Ford's agents they are not staying awake at night to make him President. So far as I have seen, the relations between Ford and his agents are strictly business, so much so that they haven't any love for his generosity. No, my guess is that the Democrats have too much sense to think of nominating Henry Ford.

Stanley Baldwin Is Given Ovation

British House Loses Little Time in Speeches of Sorrows and Welcome But Settles to Work.

(By JOHN STENGE, Copyright 1923, Chicago Tribune.)

LONDON, May 29.—(Radio).—The king is dead. Long live the king. Sixty years ago today, the king of the Commons cheer itself hoarse when A. Bonar Law took his seat for the first time as prime minister. This afternoon I watched the House cheer itself hoarse again when Stanley Baldwin took his seat from behind the speakers chair and sank into Mr. Bonar Law's old seat.

There were the usual speeches of sorrow for the old premier and of welcome for the new one. In a few minutes everything was running just as it always does. A very graceful speech of tribute to Mr. Bonar Law and of welcome to Mr. Baldwin was made by Ramsey MacDonald, leader of the opposition, finishing thus: "I congratulate Mr. Baldwin on his high position, and I personally wish him well, but I am going to do all in my power to confound his politics and frustrate his selfish tricks."

Then there was a pause and shouts for Austen Chamberlain. Mr. Chamberlain rose, very pale and evidently agitated, saying it was unusual for a mere party member to speak on such occasions. Then, after the usual tribute to Mr. Bonar Law, he congratulated the "gentleman who has been elected leader of my party" and then he pleaded his fidelity to the king and the empire.

Mr. Baldwin's first task in Parliament today was to introduce a bill indemnifying W. C. Bridgeman, home secretary, for his illegal denunciation of the Irish "potters" in Ireland. The prime minister announced that Mr. Bridgeman would make a statement in his own case and then return from the House while the bill was debated.

Retail Merchants' Association Annual Meeting Tomorrow Night

The Retail Merchants' Association will hold its annual meeting tomorrow night at the Burton Hotel, beginning at 7:30 o'clock, at which the election of officers for the ensuing year will take place. In addition to the routine of business on the evening, a number of talks will be made, the principal address to be made by Thomas B. Howell, a prominent hardware dealer of Richmond. Mr. Howell's speech, it is understood, will be purely along matters pertaining to the retail merchandising, which will be of interest to the members of the local organization who hear him. He is described as an interesting speaker.

After the business has been transacted and the election of officers, a sumptuous banquet will be served. Officers to be elected are a president, treasurer and board of directors.

The meeting was originally set for tonight but D. H. Penn, secretary, announced this morning that it was recently decided to hold the meeting tomorrow night.

Rome Catholics Attack Methodists Work In Italy

(By T. DE SANTO, Copyright 1923, Chicago Tribune.)

ROME, May 29.—The Italian press was a lively battle in the Chamber of Deputies today over the activities of the American Methodist College in Rome. Mario Cingolani, a Catholic deputy, asked to know what was the government's attitude with reference to the building of a Methodist citadel on Monte Mario. Signor Gini, under secretary of state for the interior, acting for Premier Mussolini, said that the government was not ready to reply to the question at present.

The Catholic deputy then proceeded to attack the Methodist propaganda in Italy and the Methodists' challenge to Catholics. He quoted Bishop Henderson of Detroit as saying: "We shall soon hold a congress on the top of Monte Mario which stands 200 feet higher than St. Peter's Church, the same as the protestant religion is 200 spiritual feet higher than Catholicism."

Signor Cingolani's defense of Catholicism against the intrusion of the "heretics" of the Methodists aroused the ire of some other deputies, especially Republicans. Eugenio Chiesa, leader of the Republicans, led a protest. Others joined him in many a name to the rescue of Signor Cingolani. Soon half the house was yelling insults at one another while the other half, highly amused, laughed, applauded and insulted the contestants in an uproar of words and noise. The noise lasted about ten minutes.

It is stated that the government will not take action of any sort in the Methodist dispute, but will let the city of Rome decide, but will let the city of Rome decide, but will let the city of Rome decide.

Kiwanians Open Meet in Atlanta

Seventh Annual Convention in Session—Conferences and Reports Feature Today's Sessions.

(By The Associated Press)

ATLANTA, Ga., May 29.—Reports of standing committees featured the opening today of the Kiwanis International now holding its seventh annual convention here. The resolutions and credentials committees held a meeting this morning but will not submit reports until Wednesday. The morning hours, today was devoted to conferences of officers and committees.

With Denver virtually decided on for the 1924 convention, the contest for the 1925 city and Seattle and Portland in the Northwest were joined by St. Paul, Minn., in making a bid. Candidates for the next presidency were being discussed with Edward J. Turner, of Chester, Pa. most prominently mentioned.

Reports on education, inter-club relations, publicity, and public affairs were submitted this afternoon. Robert N. Young, of Salt Lake City, in presenting the report on class urged that closer restrictions be placed on membership. He contended against a growing practice of permitting more than two representatives of any profession or business to become members of local clubs. Public activities of a national or international character were brought out in the report by Harry H. Kerr, of Baltimore. Discussing tax exemption, securities the report said, "Any man who deliberately attempts to escape taxation is not only a good citizen but a traitor to his country."

County Officers Still Searching For Negro Who Attacked Danville Doctor

Efforts to apprehend Harrison Ferguson, negro, who last Sunday in the threatening rocks at members of the family of George A. Leas, while they were engaged in the evening quiet in the open, attacked Dr. Hugh Bailey with a revolver, had not proved successful up to noon today. Sheriff J. A. Hodnett reported that while the search for the negro was being conducted, the negro had been seen near the Leaning Tower at 4 o'clock. The negro had been seen near the Leaning Tower at 4 o'clock.

The entire party returned to Danville last night and notified the police, being told, however, that the attack was beyond the jurisdiction of the local police and that Chatham County Sheriff would have to act. A party of officers from Chatham County was quickly formed and Officer O. T. Cook of the Danville force volunteered to accompany them to the scene of the attack where a search was made. The wanted negro was once seen but he managed to affect his escape to the darkness.

Prohibition To Be Made More Strict

Haynes Preparing Program to Be Laid Before Governors' Conference Next Month.

GRAFTON WILCOW
(By Chicago Tribune Service)
WASHINGTON, May 29.—A program for more effective prohibition enforcement which is expected to follow the conference of governors called by President Harding for next month is being worked out here by prohibition commissioners Haynes in cooperation with numerous prohibition leaders.

The program is being framed with the particular idea of enabling the federal government to center its enforcement effort upon states where there is an apparent determined inclination against enforcement, leaving to the states which appear safely in favor of enforcement the task of taking care of the law without federal aid.

New York, Illinois and Massachusetts are being cited here as notable examples requiring the particular attention of the federal government and the prohibition leaders are looking to Ohio for guidance in the new enforcement code. Numerous large cities, including Chicago, are also mentioned as needing extra attention. Ohio already has done one of the most drastic prohibition codes but the Ohio legislature is to be asked to pass even more stringent dry laws at its next session if Governor Doherty accepts suggestions to be made to him at President Harding's conference.

Some of the recommendations for incorporation into state laws which will be suggested at the governor's conference are the following: Making the buyer of bootleg liquor equally guilty with the seller. A padlock provision shutting tight all cabarets and other places where contraband liquor is sold or consumed.

Drastic penalties for forging liquor permits or labels.

Summary removal of state or local officials found derelict in their duty in connection with prohibition enforcement.

Severe penalties for destroying confiscated liquors or other evidence of law violation before such disposal is ordered by the courts.

Making it a felony to possess or traffic in apparatus for making home brew. Forbidding sale or advertisement of materials for distilling liquors or brewing beer.

Substituting penitentiary sentences for fines in convictions of flagrant law violators.

Making it a penitentiary offense for a prohibition violator to carry a revolver or other weapon.

Imposing severe penalties, both by imprisonment and fine, for attacks, whether physical or by intimidation, upon prohibition agents or police while they are conducting a raid or are otherwise attempting to enforce the prohibition laws.

Ship liquor relations of the Treasury Department will be rigid, according to official forecasts today. They will result in inconvenience to foreign and American shipping, particularly the former. Contrary to reports that have been published recently, they will not be so softened as to allow a circumvention of the decision of the Supreme Court prohibiting the carrying of ships within the American three mile limit. It is hoped to complete the regulations tomorrow. The time of their promulgation has not been definitely determined.

It is proposed, however, as originally intended, that the regulations shall be made effective on June 10.

That the regulations will take the character indicated was made an aim of the Treasury Department today at the Treasury Department.

While the Department is desirous of a voiding unnecessary restrictions and to meet complaints made both formally and informally by five shipping countries it was made clear that the department can only follow the law as it is laid down in the decision. To do this it was made evident, will be a source of real inconvenience and likely a loss of a great deal of American trade particularly for the coal industry. The growing belief that the regulations could not help but bring this about was given emphasis after a formal call made today upon Secretary of the Treasury Mellon by Jules Jusserand, French ambassador.

He discussed the forthcoming regulations and the inconvenience they will entail upon French shipping and their actual conflict with the French law which requires that vessels under the French flag carry wine for the ship's crew. Other countries, including Italy and Spain have similar laws, while the British government has formally complained to the State Department of the inconvenience the application of the regulations will cause the British shipping in American ports.

HE'S ONLY UNITED STATES OFFICIAL WITHOUT BOSS

(Special to The Bee.)

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Probably the only man in the United States—at least in government circles—who is absolutely his own boss is J. R. McCall, a Nebraskan.

McCall is controller general of the United States. His business is to head the general accounting office which holds a restraining finger over the spending of Uncle Sam's money.

McCall holds office 75 years and he's accountable to nobody—not even the president. If he proves negligent can remove him.

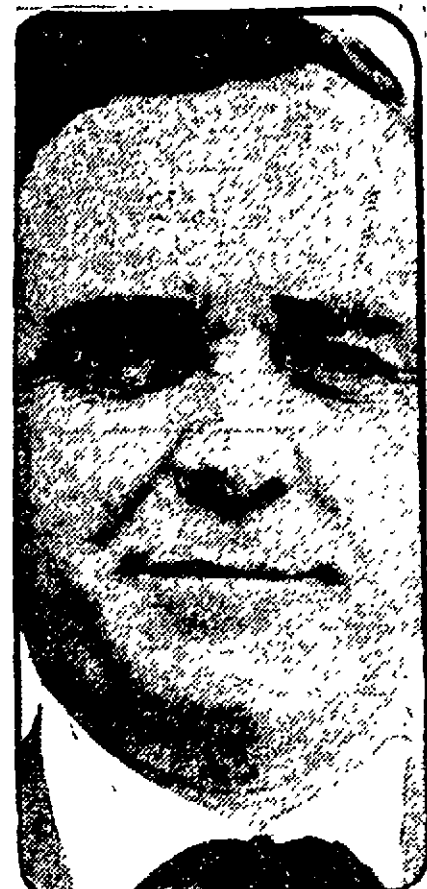

Already the wide authority given to McCall has brought him into conflict with cabinet officers who resent any outside interference with their departments.

Secretary of the Navy Denby, for one, got hot under the collar when McCall directed a navy disbursing officer to get back the money involved in an overpayment of compensation to an enlisted man.

McCall also had a clash with Fall while the latter still was in the cabinet.

But McCall goes serenely along saving money for the taxpayers. Others can hoot and howl all they want to but—

McCall's his own boss.

New York Aroused Over Fate of Impending Dry Repeal Measure

ARTHUR SEARS HENNING

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)

NEW YORK, May 29.—New York is "all het up" over the impending fate of the bill repealing the Mullin-Gage state prohibition enforcement act. Whether Governor Smith signs the repeal, as the wets beseech him to do, or vetoes it, as the dries implore, his action, it already is apparent, is going to produce an upheaval of public opinion that will be felt far beyond the boundaries of this state and will influence, perhaps profoundly, the Presidential campaign next year.

Before acting on the repeal, the governor will hold a hearing at Albany next Thursday, at which wets and dries by the thousand, carried in special trains, will appear to back their spokesmen who will argue the question of the state relinquishing jurisdiction of enforcement of the national prohibition law. The governor, though predisposed to sign the repeal, has intimated in a speech that he might be inclined to appoint his wet following by vetoing the measure.

The general expectation of dries as well as wets, is that if the state enforcement act is repealed and prohibition is left chiefly to the federal government, with its comparatively small force of officers, the lid on liquor will be lifted considerably and potatoes with a kick made easily obtainable in New York at a marked reduction from the prevailing price of 75 cents a dry.

Moreover, the repeal might be expected to give an impetus nationally to reaction against the stringency of the prohibition law, which is already noticeable in a number of states on the Atlantic seaboard. So betwixt hopes and fears the wets and dries, with anxious eyes on Albany, are prey to a suspense that is fast becoming unbearable.

"What will Al do?" is the question of the hour hereabouts wherever people congregate. If anybody knows what Al will do he can clean up on the betting curb where the odds were 11 to 10 and now are 10 to 9 that he will sign the repeal. More than $1,000,000, it is estimated, has been bet on the result up to date.

If Al signs he will remain the darling of the wets and leap at once to the forefront as the wet candidate for the Democratic nomination for President next year, who might displace Senator Oscar Underwood of Alabama in the favor of the Anti-Prohibitionists.

I know some Democratic leaders who are beginning to modify their opinion that it would be suicide to nominate a Roman Catholic and to hint that it might be suicide for a party which in the north is largely Irish Catholic to turn down Al Smith merely because he is a Catholic.

The wet Democrats are convinced that prohibition will be the paramount issue of the Presidential election and are proceeding on the assumption that President Harding will be renominated on a dry platform, they are going to do their utmost to convince the Democratic convention that the best chance of success lies in nominating a wet. The figure that the "solid south," though traditionally dry could be relied upon to deliver its 133 electoral votes to the Democratic candidate, even if he were a wet. That would leave 133 votes to be garnered in the border and northern states to make a majority of the electoral college.

Of this necessary 132 the wet Democrats see 131 easily forthcoming from New York, particularly with Al Smith the candidate. New Jersey, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Maryland, West Virginia, Missouri and Wisconsin, while Delaware might be counted upon to complete the majority, even if neither Illinois nor Indiana could be carried.

If Smith vetoes the repeal his stock as a Presidential candidate is bound to slump among the wets without rising appreciably among the dries who distrust him as a wet at heart. He would be charged by the wets with infidelity to his campaign promise to swat prohibition which helped him bury former Governor Miller under a 400,000 plurality last fall. There would even be a grave question that Al could go to the Democratic national convention with the New York delegation behind him, for New York democracy is preponderantly wet and, if the governor sides with the dries on this question of the repeal, he will arouse distrust among his wet followers, despite efforts to convince them that a veto would be shrewd political strategy to win the dry support.

It is evident that Tammany wants the Mullin-Gage enforcement act repealed. The Tammany chiefs are urging the governor to sign the repeal and warning him of committing political suicide by vetoing it. Smith is the do of New York democracy to such an extent that he has dangled successfully to Boss Murphy, as at the state convention last year, but if the governor fails his wet friends now he is likely to find himself in the discard as a dictator.

Discussion of injunction proceedings so to prevent the carrying out of the project, but this had not developed during the course of the morning and such a course was questioned in some quarters at least until the attitude of the council on a motion to rescind is passed on tomorrow night.

Discussion of injunction proceedings directed attention to the original deed by which the Danville Confederate Memorial Association about eight years ago turned over to the city the whole memorial property to be controlled and maintained by the municipality this, after money to meet the purchase price had been raised by public subscription.

This deed conveyed the property to the city, "to have and to hold the property x x x x to the purposes for which the Danville Confederate Memorial Association was formed as set forth in the certificate of incorporation of the said Danville Confederate Memorial Association."

Turning to these articles of incorporation recorded in the office of the clerk of the Corporation Court under date of December 1912 the purposes for the property is to be used are expressed in the following language:

"The purposes for which it is formed are to purchase and hold property on Main Street, Danville, known as the Sutherland property and other land and buildings of historic interest in the city of Danville and to preserve and beautify the same, to acquire and preserve documents, books, pictures, paintings and other things relating to the Confederate States, to collect and maintain a museum of mementos and relics of the war between the states, to conduct a park and library in the city of Danville, to promote education to furnish club rooms for the United Daughters of the Confederacy and other benevolent, historical literary, educational, civic and social societies and to promote educational, civic and social interests of the city of Danville."

Friday Will Be Day Of Prayer Among Baptists

The mid-week prayer meeting at the First Baptist church has been postponed until Friday night for two reasons, one being the school and college exercises, which are being held this week, and the other being the setting apart of Friday as a day of prayer for the success of the final collections of the Seventy-Five Million campaign. Baptist churches throughout the country will observe Friday as one of prayerful consideration of the final of this great church subscription campaign and the First Baptist church will take a part in it.

Rev. J. M. Shelburne, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist church, in making the announcement this morning stated that a revival of interest in the undertaking was manifested at the Southern Baptist convention which he recently attended at Kansas City. When the need was expressed for $100,000 additional in order to provide salaries and missionaries in the foreign field the sum of $100,000 was raised from the floor within a few minutes.

Rich Jail Bird Is Allowed To Visit Outside

Robert Brindell, in Sing Sing for Extortion, Interrupted Holding a "Family Reunion."

OSSEING, N. Y., May 28.—For at least a month, Robert P. Brindell, former head of the building trade unions in New York and now serving five to ten years in Sing Sing for extortion, has been meeting his friends and relatives outside the prison walls. One of these, John Taggart, of Mount Vernon, business agent of the Metal Lathers Union of New York is said to have been among the visitors who conferred with Brindell. Today Warden Lawes surprised Brindell in conference with his wife, daughter and son. The meeting place was in an old wooden reservoir building completely out of sight of the main walls of the prison. Mrs. Brindell, stylishly dressed, and her children had gone there in their handsome sedan car, which was parked across State street from the prison property. They returned to the automobile somewhat abashed. Warden Lawes ordered Brindell locked up in solitary confinement. Keeper Carlsen, who was with Brindell in the reservoir house, was suspended for permitting the secret meeting. Residents of Ossining had noticed these meetings because they saw the Brindell car, No. 703969, park in the one spot so often and saw its occupants enter the open grounds of the state property a quarter of a mile east of the prison's eastern wall. They also noticed the license numbers of other cars. It is charged that one of these, a sedan, bore No. 682270. This car was identified from the state records as belonging to John Taggart, of Mount Vernon. The police of that city say Taggart tallies with the description of the man seen back of Sing Sing. Taggart denied yesterday that he had ever met Brindell, as suggested, or that his car could have been parked near the reservoir house. South Ossining residents said that the man who was supposed to be the husband of Brindell was not the only one who had winked at Brindell's evasions of regulations. They declared that if Warden Lawes had surprised Brindell last Wednesday, he would have found another state employee who has been very considerate of the prisoner and his family.

The attack was the fourth of its kind this year.

Doctors Lay Collapse of Suzanne to Over Exertion

PARIS, May 28.—Suzanne Lenglen, the French tennis star, who collapsed yesterday at St. Cloud during the state of the hard court championships, was examined today by heart and lung specialists. They found the collapse was due to overexertion and excitement and told her that she must avoid overexertion. It is thought that she will compete at Wimbledon, but in the singles only, not taking part in the doubles play.

Her overexertion yesterday came through participating in three final matches. She characterized her playing in three finals in one day as a "silly stunt," and added, "Never again!"

NORMALCY BEGONE! GET SET FOR THE SHRINERS

BY HARRY B. HUNT
(Special to The Bee.)

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Washington is an American city no longer. From the dignified and sedate capital of the world's greatest democracy, it has been transformed into a giddy ditty of oriental babel, outdoing in gaudy trappings and rioting colors the brilliance and splendor of ancient Mecca, Medina and Bagdad. For the week of June 2 the White House passes to be the executive mansion, residence of President Warren Gamaliel Harding. It becomes, instead, the royal seraglio, palace of Noble Gamaliel Harding, Shih of the Aladdin Temple, Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine.

Pennsylvania avenue, historic thoroughfare down which our presidents ride to their inaugurations, is a Shiner avenue no longer. It has become "The Road to Mecca," along which will trudge some hundreds of thousands of Shrine pilgrims.

Lafayette Park, fronting the White House, becomes the "Garden of Allah," outdoing Maxfield Parrish's wildest imagination in its medley of colors and with its quiet atmosphere shrouded by the weird synopses of pulsing desert music. The whole city and all its normal life has been turned topsy-turvy to make a gala week for the national Shriner convention, which is expected to bring at least 500,000 visitors to town.

Maybe there is something more than mere loyalty in this devotion to Mecca this year. Possibly they're trying to make up to Fellow Noble Warr on the pomp and pageantry that was withheld at the time he was

Negotiations Over Prisoners' Release Are More Favorable

Chinese Officials Making More Sincere Effort—Bandits Reassured Regarding Their Safety.

(By The Associated Press.) TIEN-SIN, May 29.—Despatches from Tsoochwang today strengthened the impression of better atmosphere in the negotiations for the release of the fourteen foreigners held by the bandits on Paotzuku mountain. Chinese officials evidently are making a more sincere effort to placate the bandits and they have been quick to acknowledge this. When the bandits recently asked the relief camp at Tsoochwang, the Tuchen's deputy instantly reassured them regarding their safety.

But whatever was withheld at that time is to be made up now, with interest. Never was the city so "lit up" for any inaugural as it is for the Shriners' convocation. Never were such elaborate stands erected in front of the White House, never such brilliant and costly effects staged. The whole picture is costing somebody well up to $500,000.

But think of what 500,000 Shriners will spend when they get to town!

And the presence of having Fellow Shriner Noble Harding, with his red and gold fez, in the reviewing stand!

Thousands of multi-colored electric lights, electric-jeweled scimitars, crescents and stars everywhere. Red, green, yellow and blue banners and bunting by the mile. Music blaring from amplifier horns on high posts.

Every hundred feet from the Capitol to Washington Circle, two miles away. Gilded towers and minarets cornering the Garden of Allah. Turkish trousers and Arabian fezzes.

Speaking of fezzes naturally makes one think of fezzes.

He is bringing in a bunch of his best agents to help make the capital safe for Shriners. However, it is whispered that the best brains of the fix-splitters' federation also are on the job and that a number of oases are being established for drought-parched desert pilgrims.

After Shriners' week, Washington will return to normalcy. Praise be to Allah!

Golf Tourney Opens Wednesday

All is in readiness for the annual Golf Tournament of the Appalachian League. The advance guards of the Lynchburg, Charlottesville and Roanoke teams are in town with the very best players of their clubs to represent them. Play will begin promptly at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow morning, the 30th, and will be played in foursomes one man from each club, medal play. The two teams making the lowest aggregate gross scores will play the finals of the tournament, match play, in the afternoon at 3 p. m. A great deal of interest surrounds the afternoon play because of the fact that the cup given by The Appalachian League has to be won three times before it becomes the trophy of any club. Both Lynchburg and Charlottesville have each won the cup two years and barring any upset unexpected scores, which are always probable in golf, the cup will go to one of the other two teams. Other teams will play matches for the consolation prize. A handsome cup will be given by The Appalachian League to the individual making the lowest medal score in the morning play. The team of the LeVau team team will be on hand and will prove a drawing card, having won the state championship several times. Teams will be the guests of the Danville Golf Club at a luncheon at 1:30 p. m.

The Danville team is in fine form and expects to give a good account of itself. The public is cordially invited to these matches.

Captives Peeved As Negotiations Drag Along Now

One Predicts Worse Conditions Unless Soem Steps Are Taken—Thinks That America Should Intervene

(By CHARLES DAILEY.) (Copyright 1923, Chicago Tribune)

TSAO CHUANG, May 29.—The troops' circle is growing narrower. John Powell, Chicago Tribune correspondent, accompanying the bandit negotiators, returned to Paotzuku at noon today and is expected to return to Tsoo Chuang again today or Wednesday.

Reports on today's conference are brief, but they indicate at least some progress is being made and the way left open to a continuance of the negotiations.

Mr. Powell was physically well and cheerful, but he was enraged over the conditions under which he and the others have been living for the past three weeks. When informed that the American cabinet had decided to use troops only as a last resort to save the lives of the captives, he said determinedly "When do they think that a last resort will come?"

Mr. Powell asserted that the time had come for America to lead in intervention in Chinese affairs, saying, "From the standpoint of a writer, and not from a mere captive, I cannot see how China is ever going to work out this problem alone, and America has entered into such a stake to neglect this problem."

He predicts worse conditions unless something is done. There is much effort in Shanghai to arouse public opinion sufficient to move the American government into action, feeling being that the United States does not realize the seriousness of the situation.

It is now possible to mention the important part in the negotiations that Mr. Powell played. He convened a meeting of the captives, including the English speaking Chinese, assuming leadership, at which it was agreed that unless the bandits acted immediately to accept the terms of release they would address a message to the powers that they would be willing to sacrifice their lives rather than longer continue their privations in captivity. One of the captives being near death at the time, Mr. Powell then summoned the chiefs, presenting this ultimatum:

"If the bandits state concrete terms the captives will appeal to their governments to bring pressure on China to accept the demands, that failing we will ask the foreign nations to rescue us by force."

The chiefs thereupon held a council, with Mr. Powell taking notes as secretary. Mr. Powell was paroled Friday and brought the bandit demands to Tsoo Chuang, submitting them to the consuls and Chinese officials, they being an incorporation of 10,000 of the bandits into the army, as already has been cabled.

Returning Saturday, Mr. Powell carried an offer of the Chinese to accept 1,000 in the army, and also 'immunity', etc., provided the bandits show good faith by sending negotiators, and guaranteeing their safe conduct. Mr. Powell presented these late Saturday night, following which the chiefs counseled all night.

Resuming the conference Sunday, the bandits decided to send Mr. Powell back, accompanying Lu Yu Kiang and Chi Chen Chiang as the bandit negotiators, with the small son of the bandit chieftain also going as evidence of their good faith. These arrived at nightfall Sunday, at once seeing Vice Governor Tsung Shi Hi Chi, with Mr. Powell also present as foreign guarantor of the bandits' sincerity.

Governor Tsung told the bandits he, they and also China could all forget a lost face in an endeavor to come to an agreement. After a conference of many hours the bandits slept, with Mr. Powell and Roy Anderson as bodyguards. After further conferences today all will return to the bandit camp with a view to submitting the compromise to a full meeting of the chieftains.

Whatever the final outcome, full credit is due Mr. Powell for having brought the bandits and the Chinese authorities together where diplomats, consuls, officials and the gentry all failed.

In my opinion Mr. Powell's courageous position throughout, fighting from the first day for the freedom of the women, then for the boys, and then that the Chinese captives receive the identical consideration as the foreigners, deserves the highest praise, of which Mr. Powell is too modest and I am too exhausted and too intimately connected with him to properly express.

THE GRIST O'GOTHAM

BY CASUAL STROLLER

NEW YORK, May 28.—Legends of the waters who made fortunes in tips grew up around Delmonico's, the latest famous restaurant to close its doors.

Time came in cash and in Wall Street information, and many a waiter retched to a life of ease. Not only waiters reaped a harvest during almost a century of Delmonico's history. A doorman named Jimmy Hebron was reported some years ago to have made $100,000.

Baptista Ravero, for 36 years a waiter and familiar to patrons as "Crispi", was the veteran among the mourners who saw the famous place close the other day.

"The old days are gone," he lamented. "The waiters worked hard then—champane parties, when we had to stay up all night—but we made lots of money. Now happiness has been killed in America."

Like Sherry's, which until a few years ago, was diagonally across Fifth avenue and 44th street, Delmonico's will be replaced by a bank and office building.

John Delmonico in 1828 started a wine and cake shop that later became a restaurant at 23 William street. In 1832 Delmonico's moved to 76 Broad street, in 1836 to Broadway and Chambers, in 1881 to Fifth avenue and 14th, in 1876 up the avenue to 26th and in 1879 to Fifth avenue and 44th street.

A well known clubman of many marital adventures was one of those who mourned the passing of Delmonico's.

"I feel terribly bad," he said. "Who, that's where they held my grandfather's and my father's wedding suppers—and several of mine, too!"

Hobo Hall, classic tavern at 350 Bowery, where Wary Willie and his brethren had bed and "mulligan" while in New York, has a new coat of wallpaper.

Motatoes used to be scrawled on the wall. Now some tidy person, careful of the wallpaper, has pinned up little printed slips.

One says: "Go to work. To make money. To buy food. To get strength. To go to work."

Another: "Poverty makes rags. Rags make money. Money makes banks. Banks make loans. Loans make poverty."

Greenwich Village lost a landmark when Sonja Bright died recently. No body knew her full name till she died. She was "Sonja the Great Girl." She made cigarettes and sold them in a queer looking little shop in West 4th street.

Taking as his text "And Daniel Purposed in His Heart," the Rev. W. H. Mount's Teeth Are Identified; 12 Are Found

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)

CHICAGO, May 28.—All doubt that the skeleton found under a pier at Evanston is that of Leighton Mount, the student who disappeared from Northwestern University after a class fight two years ago, was dispelled today when twelve of his teeth were found in the sand where the skeleton was discovered. Several of the teeth showed recorded dental work. One bore a gold-banded porcelain crown and the dentist who did the work said this proved the identification of the skeleton beyond question.

When the skull was found, thirteen teeth were missing. Their discovery is considered of the highest importance by the State authorities. The missing bones of one foot and several bits of cloth also were recovered today. Fragments of a newspaper, bearing a date some time later than the fatal class fight, and two lumps of clay, bear out the theory that the body was temporarily hidden in the cellar or well and later taken to the pier and weighted down with heavy rocks, where the action of the waves wasted away the flesh, during the more than a year it must have remained in that desolate spot.

Writing from Madison, Mich., Roscoe C. Fitch, who gave the State most of the information upon which it has been working, says he has been warned that Northwestern students are "laying for him" and that the investigation authorities have cancelled his registration in an important course. He named his persecutors and the State authorities will have them up for questioning on the charge of attempting to obstruct a witness and impede the investigation.

Another side line on the Mount mystery came today when Justice Walter Steffen annulled the hasty marriage of Aurel Alice Lomquist, only daughter of Axel Lomquist, millionaire Detroit realtor and Fred S. Scott, nephew of President Scott of the University and son of John Scott, one of the professors. Both the young people and the father had been summoned to tell what they knew of the Mount mystery.

Stakes Life on Quest of Sandwiches, Loses; Slain by Head Waiter

EASTON, Pa., May 28.—Donald Kuebler, twenty-two, staked his life on a quest for sandwiches last night and lost. He was shot and killed by a head waiter he angered.

The young man, son of William Kuebler, owner of the Karldon Hotel here, was sitting in the lobby with two friends. He decided to get sandwiches and entered the kitchen, but hurried out saying he could not get the sandwiches because of the headwaiter.

He and the headwaiter, Alexander Lovings, negro, had quarrelled previously, according to the police. His friends knew that and urged him to "let the sandwiches go." Instead, Kuebler got to the cellar and returned with a heavy piece of wood.

As he re-entered the kitchen a dishwasher cried, "Look out!" The same time Lovings drew a revolver, shot Kuebler three times and fled. The wounded man walked to the office of a physician and was hurried to a hospital, where he died in an hour.

Just below Washington Square begins the Italian section, where shopkeepers who specialize in spaghetti and salami conduct transactions in Italian. Children speak Italian in their homes, but pick up English in the streets.

In a Eisecker street delicatessen shop window appeared this sign, scrawled on a piece of cardboard. Colli Poppi For Sale.

Passersby thought it was some foreign vegetable and stepped inside to inquire about it.

Generations. Explanations. The shopkeeper's son was putting up his collie puppy for sale.

Follow Careers of All Those Who Visited Tut Tomb

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)

PARIS, May 28.—Dispatches from Alexandria report that the Egyptian city is following with the closest interest the careers of all those who visited the tomb of King Tut-Ankh-Amen under the firm belief that Lord Carnarvon and George J. Gould died because of the pharaoh's curse.

As previously when this belief came up, the Paris newspapers are devoting much space to the opinions of various Egyptologists, who seem to give credence to King Tut's revenge.

A despatch from Alexandria says the belief has gained ground because an epidemic broke out after King Tut's tomb was opened. Prayers are regularly offered up for Queen Elizabeth of Belgium, at the Cairo Franco-Belgian Church, because the residents of Egypt believe she, too, is under the dreaded curse.

Kidnapped Agent of 17 Released

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)

CHICAGO, May 28.—Miss Ella Westman, 17, who was kidnapped Friday and held prisoner on the third floor of a building at some distance from her home, was freed by her captors shortly before daylight this morning, and although she was so weak and dazed she could hardly navigate, she managed to reach her home.

She says one of the men forced a drug into her mouth and that three of them repeatedly threatened her while she was in captivity Sunday morning about daylight, while the men were out on some expedition, she dragged herself to a telephone and was talking to a girl friend, when the men returned. They strung her down and severed the phone connection, but evidently feared she had given the location, for they threw her to the street early this morning and then drove away in a car. One man is being held as a suspect.

PLEATS, RUFFLES, SMOCKING TRIM SUMMER FROCKS

(Special to The Bee.)

Very short sleeves make the center dress attractive for hot weather and the shoulder-smocking breaks the severity of the bateau neckline. Smocking is used on the other frock too, and its softness is complemented by tiers of still feminine flounces. Organdie is still the favorite fabric for these ruffled gowns and printed cottons or silks are used for the untripped straight-time dresses.

Scoop's Colyum
DRAKES BRANCH, May 29.—(Gravestone Wireless).—Tomorrow is a national holiday—Decoration Day. The banks will be closed, likewise the postoffice and Federal building. There will be a parade in the afternoon and picnic in the country most of the day. Tomorrow night will be the busiest night of the month. Aside from the usual mid-week services in the churches, the Episcopalians are going to have a congregational supper beginning at 6:30 o'clock. The Reformation Association will gather at the Burton for supper and the annual election of officers at 7 o'clock. The Danville High School play, "The Rivals," will be presented at the Majestic Theatre by the senior class. And perhaps the most interesting event will be the special meeting of the Council to listen to the protests from the ladies who pulled up the stakes of the site of the new library building on the Sutherland avenue side of the Memorial Mansion lot. This is where the fire station—after plans had been drawn for the new library and the preliminaries developed and to proceed with the building, some of the only location available that would not mar the old Mansion and grounds was that immediately across the rear, opposite the fire station—and they pulled up the stakes. An interesting scrap is in prospect, and we will bet on the ladies!

ASPECTS OF THE PUBLIC LIBRARY
It will be difficult to reconcile conflicting views as to the wisdom of building on the Memorial Mansion grounds a public library which has been offered as a gift to the city. It will continue to be opposed tenaciously by those whose love and devotion to Confederate traditions lead them to believe that an invasion of the memorial property snacks of desecration and endorsement of the project will come from that element which while equally patriotic, feels that no sacrifice is being made. It is very largely a question of sentiment but it is not on this question alone that materialization of the project will turn.

Today is Confederate Memorial Day in Danville when the heroes of the Old South will be honored. A splendid program is being rendered this afternoon at the Memorial Mansion, with Mayor Harry Wooding presiding. Rev. T. A. Smoot, D. D., pastor of Main Street Methodist Church, delivers the address.

There are other questions which must be considered in this momentous step and at this stage of protest one has to reckon with legalities which cannot be waived aside lightly by sentiment as the force majeure. Can the city council for instance which has already set its seal of approval on the project even to the point of definite acceptance of the site reverse itself at this stage when expenditures of money have been incurred the good faith of the council not being questioned and with the contract for the construction actually signed and, if we are correctly informed, material for the undertaking already contracted for. This is an actuality which will be presented for the council's consideration tomorrow night and one which will afford food for reflection since a complete reversal would constitute a startling precedent. We are of the belief that the protest against the erection of the library on the mansion grounds comes too late to be considered with fairness to those whose enterprise and spirit of philanthropy have manifested themselves in an offer which means so much to the city.

Yesterday was Red Letter Day for Masonry in Danville, the program for the dedication of the new Temple was carried through delightfully and most impressively. The buffet supper served after the evening's entertainment was by no means the least important event of the day. Indeed, it could not have been improved upon and the ladies in charge won praises at every turn.

ANNUAL REUNION DINNER IS HELD
(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 28.—The sixth annual reunion dinner of the "Baltimore" command, held at the Hotel Mayflower, was a most successful affair. The dinner was given by the Baltimore command, and was attended by a large number of officers and enlisted men of the staff for France in 1917 on the steamship "Baltimore" to establish headquarters of American Expeditionary Force, was held here today at the elegant club, under call of General Pershing.

ONE KILLED IN MACHINE CRASH

FARMVILLE, Va., May 28.—E. V. Campbell of Richmond, was killed instantly today when his automobile plowed over a ten foot embankment. Mrs. Campbell, who was in the car with her husband, was not seriously injured.

Finals at V. M. I. To Begin June 10
(Special To The Register)
LEXINGTON, Va., May 28.—Owing to unavoidable complications in carrying out the building program of the new V. M. I. Institute will not be completed, as was originally intended, by finals. But the work will be sufficiently under way at this time to enable the hundreds of visiting alumni to get a very good idea as to how the building will look when completed.

The Tangle
An intricate web of love and hate, of passion and revenge, of mystery and suspense, of tragedy and comedy, of the most gripping and thrilling story ever told. The Tangle is a masterpiece of storytelling, a work of art that will captivate the reader from the first page to the last. It is a story that will stay with you long after you have finished reading it. It is a story that will make you think, that will make you feel, that will make you believe. It is a story that will change your life.

FLOWING GOLD
BEGIN HERE TODAY
Calvin Gray, staying in Dallas at the most expensive hotel, Henry Nelson, son of Bell Nelson, banker, was in love with Barbara, daughter of Tom Parker. Gus Briskow, friend of Gray, takes Ma Briskow and daughter, Alice, to the mountains. Alice has a tutor, Mrs. King, also a professor to teach her dancing. The dancing master kisses Alice, who becomes enraged and throws him from a window. The hotel manager orders the Briskows to leave the hotel. Calvin Gray arrives in time to range for the family to remain.

NOW GO ON WITH STORY
CHAPTER XVI
Plots and Counter Plots
FROM the day of their first meeting, Henry Nelson and Calvin Gray had clashed. No two people could be more different in disposition and temper, hence it was only natural that every characteristic, every action of the one should have aroused the other's antagonism.

Following the departure of his two callers on that day of the meeting in the bank, Nelson closed his desk and went home. He could work no more. For several days thereafter he was an unpleasant person to do business with.

After cautious deliberation Henry sent word to one of his men in the Ranger field that he wished to see him.

The man came promptly, and when he left Henry Nelson's house after a conference he carried with him a perfectly clear idea why he had been sent for. This despite the fact that he had not been told in so many words.

So much accomplished, Nelson went to Dallas and there undertook to learn something about the size of Calvin Gray's profits, who was backing him and the extent of their backing, and what his prospects were.

When he returned home Gray was gone, whether he could not learn. As the days passed without further developments, Nelson began to believe that he had had a bad dream, and that Gray had merely been talking to hear his own voice. He devoutly hoped that such would prove to be the case.

A time came, however, when his apprehensions were roused afresh, and it was Barbara Parker who reminded them. She had come to the bank with an excellent proposition and was doing her best to sell it; in the course of her conversation she referred to Gray in a manner that gave Nelson cause for thought.

"I've looked this lease over," "Bob" was saying, "and I've seen the books. It has been producing a hundred and fifty barrels a day steadily. Production like that is cheap at a thousand dollars a barrel. It is worth a hundred and fifty thousand dollars, Henry."

"Gray is it offered for seventy-five?"

"Bob" shrugged. "How did a 'bail word' like this Jackson ever make over a hundred-and-fifty-barrel well in the first place? Where did he get the money to drill? He is sick of the game, I suppose, and would be satisfied to get his money back with a reasonable profit. It is a bad, really."

"Looks so, for a fact. How did you get on to it, Bob?"

"Purely by chance. Through a man named Mallow, a 'scientist' of some sort with a magic talent." The girl laughed.

"Mallow is as queer as the rest of his kind, and I put no faith in his story until I investigated. But the

PICKERT STOCK HAS STRONG PLAY

Pickert's Stock Company opened its second week here last night most auspiciously by the presentation of "Civilian Clothes," described one theatre-goer as the best of the three shows so far presented.

The play is a comedy of merit and it was handled in excellent form last evening by the cast. There is plenty of comedy, a strong plot and action from start to finish. It is a play that makes a strong appeal to the average theatre-goer and it is expected that there will be large crowds at the Matinee this afternoon at the theatre and at the night performance this evening.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday the Seventh Guest, a mystery play will be presented.

ROBERTS-SOYARS

At Calvary Methodist parsonage Sunday at 9 p. m., Miss Nellie Louise Soyars became the bride of George Thomas Roberts. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Joseph T. Allen. They were accompanied by Otis Meadows and Miss Irene Meadows who witnessed the marriage. Miss Soyars formerly lived in Greenville, S. C., while Mr. Roberts lived in Lakesville, N. C. Immediately after the ceremony the young couple left with their friends at Lakesville, N. C. They will make their home in Danville where Mr. Roberts is engaged in business.

TWO ARE ARRESTED

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Denton of Colquhoun street were arrested last night on the charge of conducting a disorderly and ill governed house. They were released for appearance in police court this morning.

Gas Is Necessity Says Circuit Jury

A jury in the Pennsylvania circuit court decided finally yesterday that the sale of gasoline is a necessity and that it is not a violation of the Sabbath law to sell it. The case of Martin and Shelton had been pending in the court for the past nine months and the issue was a debatable one until yesterday, when it was decided by the jury in less than three minutes. Until recently it had been held that this was not a matter for the jury to decide, but a supreme court decision made juries final arbiters in a case of this character. In the case tried yesterday the burden was on the commonwealth to show that gasoline was not a necessity and in the jury's opinion the State failed to do so. The decision in no way affects the city of Danville where the sale of gasoline is controlled by city statutes which forbid such sale. It means, however, that the Danville motorists who run out of gas on Sunday will be able to procure it at Schoolfield or at any of the gas stations which are springing into existence just beyond the city limits.

LANDERS-CROUCH

Yesterday afternoon at five o'clock Miss Bess White Grouch, of Louisville, Kentucky, became the bride of Thad Preston Landers, of Atlanta. The contracting parties met in this city for a quiet marriage. The ceremony was solemnized in the office of Otis Brandley, clerk of the court by the Rev. J. Clyde Holland. Immediately following their union, Mr. and Mrs. Landers left for Greensboro, N. C. They will make their home in Atlanta, Ga.

ROTARY PLOW EXPECTED TO REVOLUTIONIZE FARM

INSPECTING THE "WONDER PLOW"

(Special to The Bee.)
ELMHURST, Ill., May 29.—Hamshaw's rotary plow, a new invention, in the opinion of farmers, has done the impossible. Recent tests here show that no matter how tough the soil, the new plow leaves the entire seedbed pulverized so finely that all the soil will pass through a sieve with one-fourth inch mesh.

Fletcher T. Hamshaw conceived the device which, experiments have conclusively proven, eliminates 80 per cent. of the farmer's work in plowing.

The purpose of the machine is not only to plow the soil, but to "order" it. That is, to prepare it for the immediate reception of seeds. The accompanying photo shows a close-up view of the drum. This drum does the trick. It is studded with a series of plow shears and tears into the soil. Under ordinary conditions farmers found that only about 29 per cent. of the soil was pulverized finely enough after plowing to permit seeding, thus necessitating eight to ten different operations. With the new machine, it is claimed, 96 per cent. of the soil is pulverized in the first operation. One of the features of Hamshaw's invention is that all surface vegetation is chopped up and mixed thoroughly with the seedbed 13 inches deep.

School Board Further Explains Dire Need of School Enlargement

The second of a series of statements to the public showing the imperative need of larger school facilities was issued yesterday by the public committee of the Danville school board in which the congested condition of the city schools is further analyzed and explained in more detail what the board proposes to do to alleviate this crowded condition provided the money is made available through the favorable action of the people at the polls.

The statement follows: It is very generally known that every building of the Danville public school system is seriously crowded. If every child in school were permitted to attend at one and the same time the congested condition would be so severe that the health of the child would be threatened and satisfactory work could not be done. In order to give all the children who apply for instruction a chance pupils in some of the lower grades are given half time. It is done in this way: Where there are more children enrolled than can be seated in the room, half of the number is taken during the first half of the day and the other during the latter part. It is obvious that these children are not getting more than half the training they are entitled to get. The schools that are affected by this half time work are:

Rison Park—6 groups, 3 teachers.
Robert E. Lee—4 groups, 2 teachers.
Bellevue—5 groups, 3 teachers.
Stonewall Jackson—2 groups, 1 teacher.
Chas. E. Hughes—2 groups, 1 teacher.
Colored.
Westmoreland—6 groups, 2 teachers.
Monticello—2 groups, 1 teacher.

Arlington—2 groups, 1 teacher. This shows that ten additional rooms are needed for whites and five for colored. The high school building for whites is not adequate for more than 350 pupils in high school work. It has an enrollment of 649. At present this school is an accredited school of the Association of Southern Colleges, but we can not hope to retain this rating with our present restricted room and equipment.

The Westmoreland colored school building is trying to accommodate both elementary and high school pupils. There are only eleven rooms and all of these are needed for high school work. The pupils in first grade in the Mechanicsville district are too small to take care of all the pupils through the congested traffic on Main street to a school. For a number of years a residence has been rented and used for school purposes. This building is badly situated and is not suited for school work. We feel that we must make better provision for these children. The Bellevue school has been compelled to send its pupils in sixth and seventh grades to another building. The fifth grade is the highest grade in this school. As has been pointed out, this school lacks three rooms of being able to take care of all the pupils through the fifth grade. Stonewall Jackson is attempting to care for the overflow from Bellevue and we have shown that an additional room is needed to care for the enrollment in the Stonewall Jackson.

Repairs are needed in all the buildings, particularly in the plumbing and heating plants. In nearly all the schools the window shades need to be replaced with new ones. Temporary rooms could be provided and the crowded conditions relieved, but such an arrangement is not economical and is bad for morale.

The Board of Education has made an exhaustive study of the school situation. It finds that it will take at least $350,000 to give the relief needed. In making this request for funds in this amount the Board is deeply conscious of the fact that our city is growing rapidly. The school census of 1920 reveals a school population of 5,466. A conservative estimate places this at over 6,000 today. The enrollment to date is 4,115. It is estimated that over 1,000 pupils of school age are not in school. Virginia has a compulsory law that we cannot disregard much longer. Were these 1,000 pupils to enroll in the schools in addition to our present enrollment, it would take as much additional space as we now have in any two of our largest buildings combined to accommodate them.

The Board of Education is charged with the duty of providing adequate room, equipment and a competent teaching force. Every member is under oath to perform the duty enjoined upon a board member.

In attempting to remedy the conditions in all the schools, it is impossible to state accurately the cost of each improvement. The architect's plans will have to be approved and contractors' bids accepted before this can be done. We think we can relieve the whole situation with a judicious expenditure of the amount we are asking for. We have already indicated that expenditures will be somewhat as follows:

1. Bellevue and Stonewall Jackson: Repairing or rebuilding	Reformed	$65,000
Enlarging and improving	Bellevue grounds	4,000
Plumbing and heating	Enlarging Stonewall Jackson	3,000
Enlarging Stonewall Jackson	Westmoreland	10,000
Additional grounds	Additional rooms	30,000
Plumbing and heating	Plumbing and heating	7,000
New equipment	2. Enlarging high school building:	2,000
3. Enlarging high school building:	Additional grounds	25,000
Additional grounds	Additional rooms	5,000
Plumbing and heating	Shops and special rooms	14,000
Auditorium, gymnasium and additional rooms	4. Arlington and Monticello: Painting, repairing and remodeling	145,000
5. Arlington and Monticello: Painting, repairing and remodeling	Heating and plumbing	1,500
Improvement of grounds and added equipment	6. Rison Park, Robert E. Lee and Chas. E. Hughes: Repair buildings and painting	3,000
7. Rison Park, Robert E. Lee and Chas. E. Hughes: Repair buildings and painting	New building, Chas. E. Hughes, and equipment	500
8. Rison Park, Robert E. Lee and Chas. E. Hughes: Repair buildings and painting	Rooms for open and opportunity classes	5,000
9. Rison Park, Robert E. Lee and Chas. E. Hughes: Repair buildings and painting	Improving grounds and adding new equipment	10,000
10. Rison Park, Robert E. Lee and Chas. E. Hughes: Repair buildings and painting		5,000
Total		$355,000

The board has no desire to spend the public's money. We are not seeking to make unnecessary work. It is enjoined upon us as a solemn duty to do the best we can in an effort to provide the best possible education for our city. We have not the power to sell bonds for school purposes. The consent of officials can do so with the consent of the voters of the city. On June 19 we shall give the voters a chance to decide in favor of or against the childhood of the city. If you want adequate school facilities and better education for our children, make an earnest effort to get every voter in the city to vote for bonds on June 19. The citizens of Danville have always done a man's part in promoting worthy interests. Your Board of Education and the city officials are asking you to do your part for the collective childhood of the city.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

FORMER HALIFAX MAN DIES IN MISSOURI

Edwin Walker, who was born and raised in Halifax county, died last Thursday at his home in Mexico, Missouri, according to an account in the newspaper of that place. Mr. Walker was the son of the late Capt. C. W. Walker. He was the oldest of the thirteen children. All of these are living except two. When he became of age Mr. Walker moved to Missouri, where he was connected with the time of his death he was connected with the A. G. Green Fire-Brick Company of Mexico. For a number of years he served as street commissioner of that place. Besides a number of relatives in Missouri, he is survived by many kindred in Halifax and Pittsylvania Counties. He was a cousin of J. B. and Chas. Anderson of this city.

R. M. I. SENIORS ARE SEEN IN "LITTLE WOMEN"

The senior class of the Randolph-Macon Institute last night presented to a large and appreciative audience a dramatic production of "Little Women." The production was arranged in four acts and five scenes. Twelve persons participated in the presentation, and altogether the performance was a creditable and enjoyable one to all the participants. The costumes and equipment had been ordered especially for the occasion and were harmonious and appropriate. Those participating and the roles they enacted were:

Mr. March, Miss Caroline Martin; Mrs. March, Miss Evelyn Boon; Meg, Miss Mary Gaver; Jo, Miss Ruth Broadwater; Beth, Miss Hortense Eames; Amy, Miss Dorothy Fulton; Aunt March, Miss Sara Sabberg; Laurie, Miss Mildred Hill; Professor Blair, Miss Rosenberg; John Brooke, Miss Helen Goodwin; Mr. Lawrence, Miss Winifred Parkington; Hannah Muller, Miss Mildred Adams.

The final services of the institute, with the announcement of the award of scholarships, presentation of diplomas and award of the seniors' honors is scheduled for this evening at 8 o'clock, and with it the end of the session, one of the most successful in the school's history.

The orator for this evening is Dr. H. H. Harding, who comes with the reputation of a thoughtful and eloquent speaker and one of unusual interest.

Mr. and Mrs. N. D. Sills, of Richmond, Va. are visiting Dr. and Mrs. T. A. Smoot.

PYTHIANS WILL INITIATE LARGE CLASS TONIGHT

Phoenix Lodge, No. 62, of the Knights of Pythias, at the regular meeting tonight in the hall on South Union street will initiate a large class into the mystery of the order. The majority of the local membership of the order as well as visitors who may be in the city, are expected to attend this ceremony.

This lodge is in a flourishing condition and is rapidly growing. Officers of the order say that they plan to double the membership here during this year. The degree team is said to be functioning at its best and is giving the members quite a treat in the ex-emplification of the work. As an additional entertainment for the members, plans are being considered to bring in a team from another city for the purpose of conferring the Third Degree on a number of candidates.

Women also are being invited to become members of the Pythian Sisters in order that they too may derive some pleasure from these fraternal meetings.

Clay Did This

A white, refined super-clay

By Edna Wallace Hopper

My complexion is the envy of countless young girls and the marvel of millions of women.

For I, remember, have been 32 years a stage star, and am still. Mine is a grandmother's age. Yet my skin is just as soft and rosy, just as smooth and blooming, as 40 years ago.

Scores of my friends, on the stage and in society, have attained like results in my way. So I know that I am going to help them if they wish.

A new-type clay
You read much now about complexion clays. But those I see are crude and muddy, like I quit years ago.

A French beauty expert first told me about clays. Then few women used them, so some of those women became the marvels of nations for their wonderful complexions.

Now countless women use them. Clay is recognized as a prime essential of beauty at its best. Women who omit clay cannot hope to compare with women who employ it.

My exceptional results come from a new-type clay, perfected by 20 years of scientific study. It is white, refined and delicate. And able experts have found ways to give it manifold effects.

Where it excels
It is found that only rare clays—certain mineral-laden clays—bring the desired results. Modern science refines that clay—removes the useless mud. Then the clay is white and clean and dainty. Experts also find that certain added factors give it multiplied effect.

My White Youth Clay will be a revelation to you, as it was to me. I thought I knew all that clay can do, but I did not know one-tenth.

It brings a new complexion, and quickly Blackheads and blemishes disappear before it. Dull skins gain a rosy bloom. Wrinkles become smooth. Many women, in 30 minutes, seem to drop ten years.

My gift to women
Now I have arranged so that all who wish may get this perfect clay, exactly as I use it. And I am taking time in my busy life to urge them to employ it.

Youth Clay does more for youth and beauty than anything I know. The results will amaze and delight you. When you know them, nothing could induce you to go back.

All toilet counters sell Edna Wallace Hopper's White Youth Clay at 50c and $1 per tube. Also my Youth Cream, which should follow the clay. Also my Facial Youth—my liquid cleanser. Also my Hair Youth, which brought my luxuriant hair. My Beauty Book comes with each.

For your own sake, please—so learn what this clay can do. Edna Wallace Hopper, Business Address, Waukegan, Wis.

TEN Hard Court Is Advantage to Tennis Players

(Copyright, 1923, by The Bee)
NEW YORK, May 28.—British lawn tennis enthusiasts have found food for thought in the growing importance of the hard court championships at St. Cloud and the international matches in Paris. Not only is it believed that these tournaments on clay have served to bring European countries, especially France and Spain, into prominence as rivals to England but it is believed that the reason young men are developing into stars in these countries whereas Albion must depend upon her older players is because the turf court idea holds hard and fast among the English and that elsewhere hard courts obtain.

An English expert has put himself on record as saying that the truer and quicker bound of the ball on the dirt court develops greater celerity of foot and eye and hand and thereby gives the product of the hard court an advantage over the man who has spent most of his early days on grass.

Another there is a lot of rainy weather in England and the rain-soaked grass is as forlorn to contemplate as it is unpleasant to play upon. The trouble is that the perfect hard court for the English climate has not yet been discovered. Were it not for this fact the chances are that the English would have wide the chance in spite of the fact that lawn tennis was invented for grass, that the court is restful to the eye and pleasant for the feet.

Any American who thinks he has a clasp upon the product is warranted to stand up under the brand of weather that Old England provides for herself in summer as in line for a tortoise as an exporter.

The continual inane chatter of the Princeton nine in the recent game against Harvard came by way of contrast to Harvard's quiet demeanor in the field. Yet the Tigers in the two games played completely outclassed the Crimson.

Is yipping a necessary complement to a baseball team that wishes to play the game up to the hilt? Evidently. In commenting upon the strident vocal barrage which the Tigers laid down through the game the writer afterwards expressed to one of the players the opinion that it smacked emphatically of muckraking.

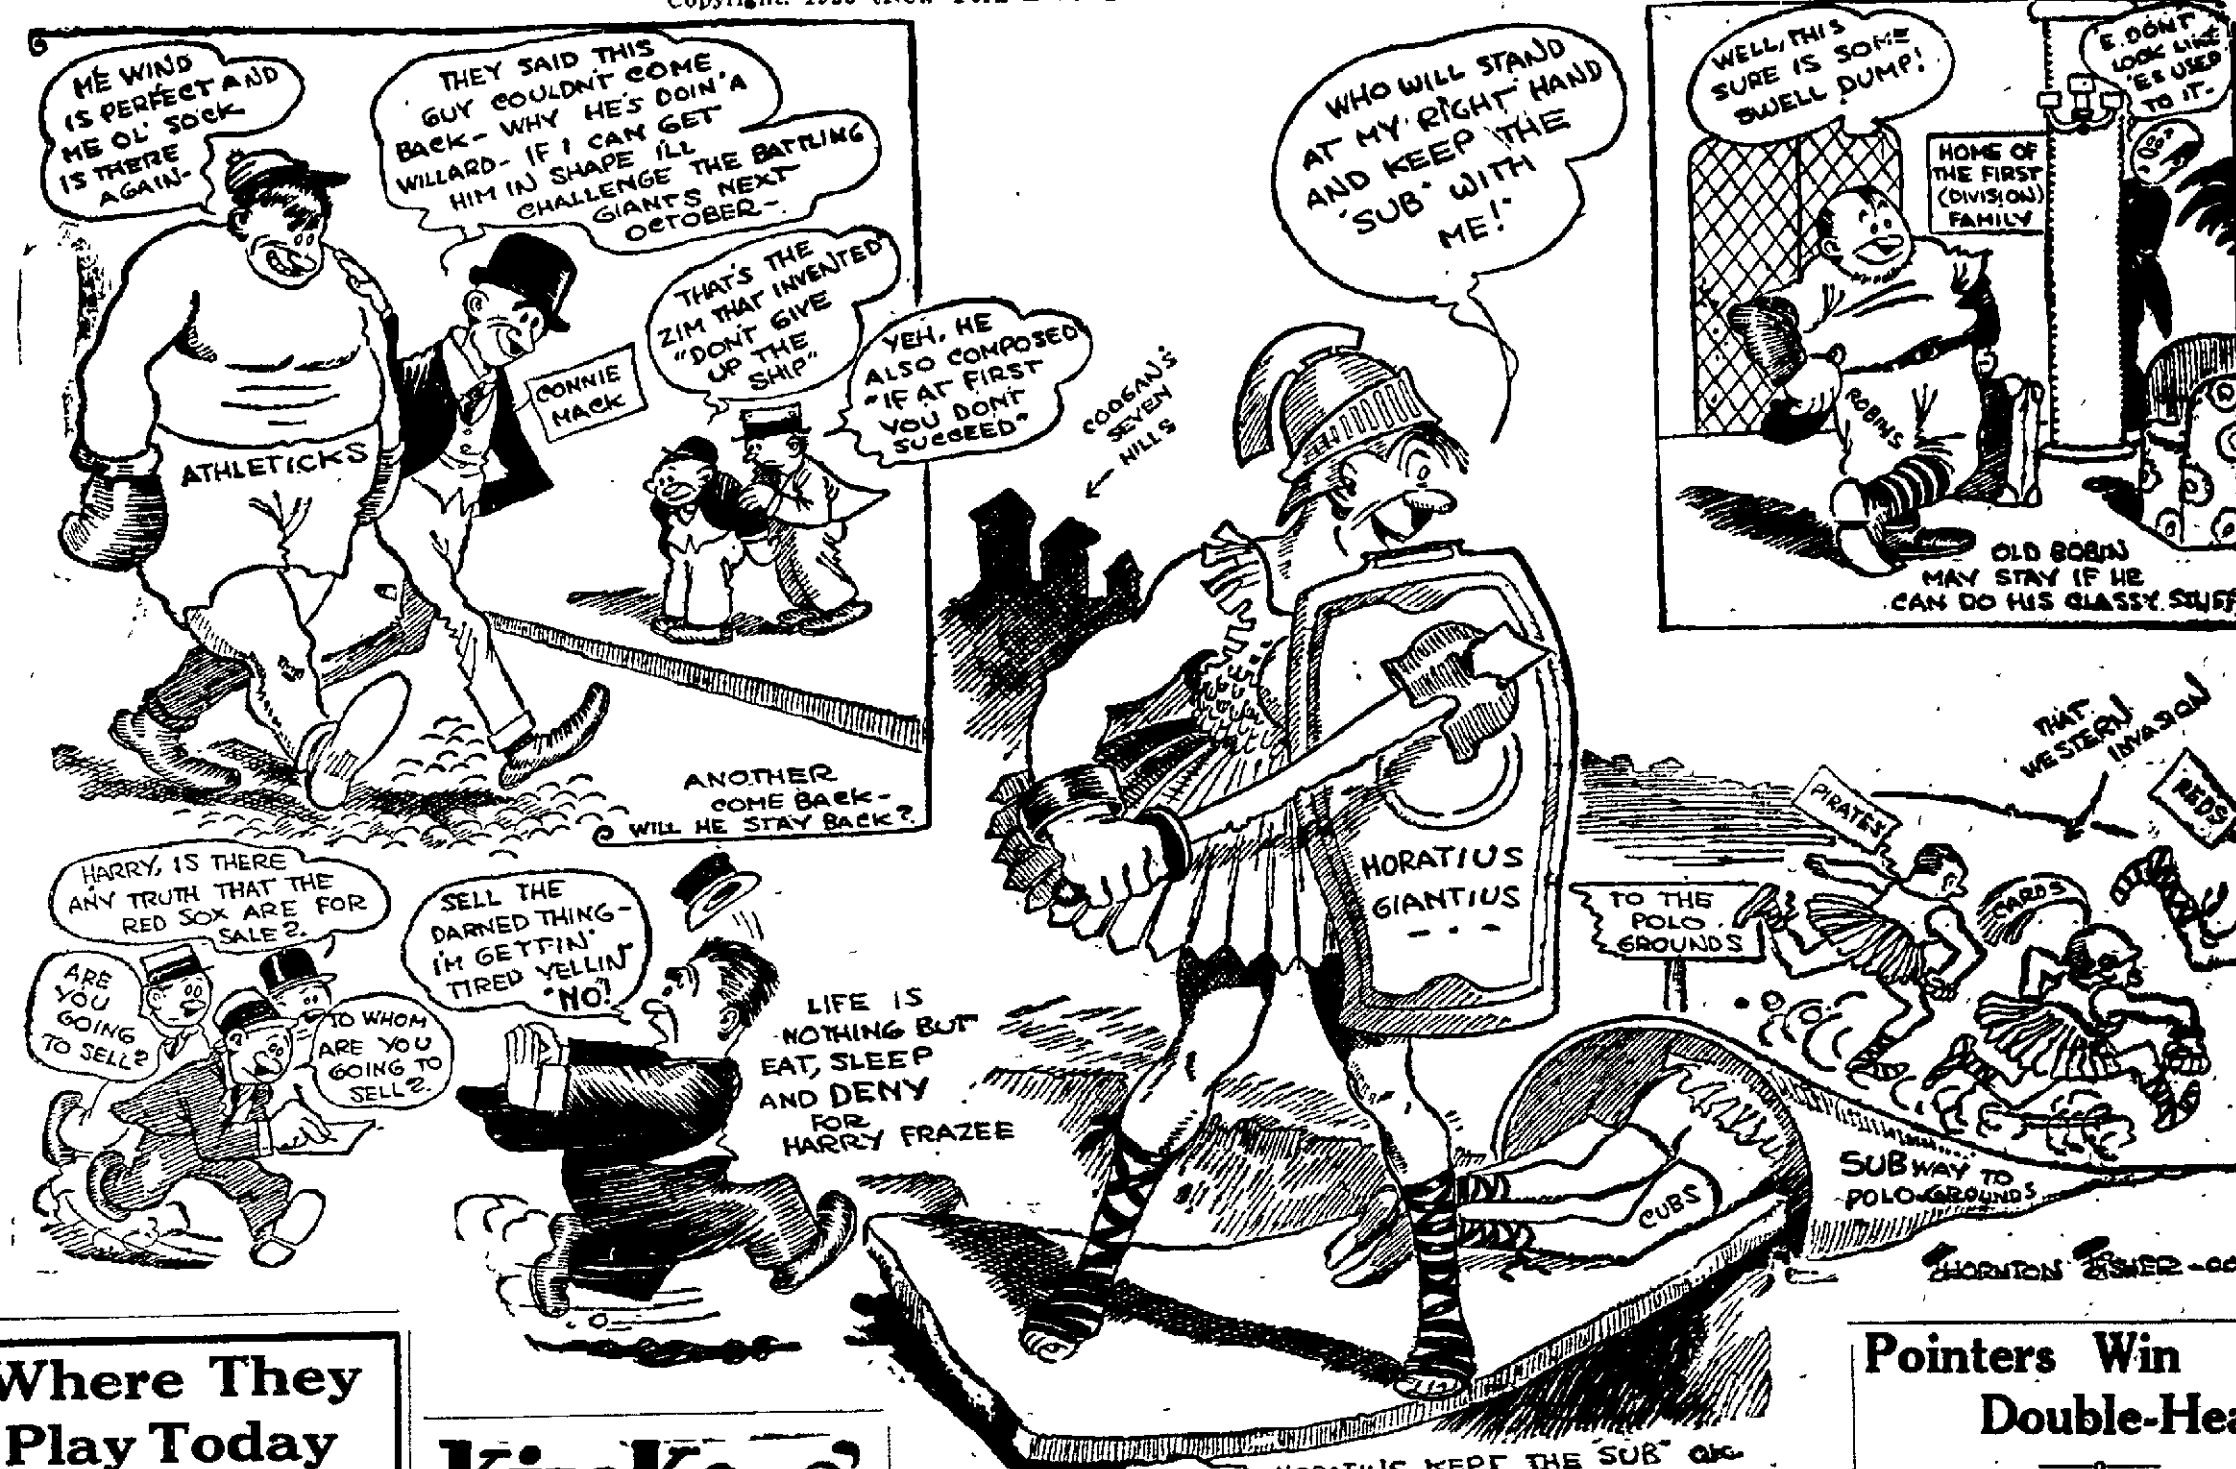

"Well," was the reply, "baseball is a mucker game." He did not mean by this that it was not a good game, but that in antecedent, ritual, and methods it is a game of the lots. When it is, as it was denatured, the team loses pep, resourcefulness and initiative. The team that wins evidently is the team that talks it up. Compensation for years that are offended will be found in the pleasure a fan takes in seeing a game played up to the hilt.

INVESTIGATE MEASURES.

PEKING, May 28.—General Chiang Wen-Hsi, director of military affairs for the war ministry, was appointed today by Premier Chang Shao-Tseng to represent the government on the international military commission, which will investigate measures being taken to obtain the release of the foreigners being held by bandits at Paozuku.

MICHIGAN WINS TITLE

(By The Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 28.—

Michigan captured the 1923 western conference baseball championship

here today by defeating Ohio State

5 to 2.

Kinks-o'-the Links

What year did Francis Ouimet win the national open? Please give the details of that victory?

Ouimet won the national open in 1913. He was then, as now, an amateur, and wasn't given much consideration as a probable winner. At the finish, Ouimet was tied with those two great English professionals, Harry Vardon and Edward Ray, at 304. In the play-off, Ouimet completely upset the duo by winning in rather easy style with a 72 for 18 holes while Vardon took a 77 and Ray a 78.

Can an amateur who has violated some rule, which makes him a professional, be reinstated? Is it possible to be reinstated more than once?

Often an amateur is declared a professional for some violation of a hard, fast rule. Very often when the case is taken up the evidence makes it appear that reinstatement is deserved, after being made to suffer a certain penalty for the violation, such as loss of standing for six months or a year. The rules definitely state that a player cannot be reinstated more than once.

When a is apparent that your ball has gone out of bounds by a wide margin, what is the proper way to play the next shot?

When your ball goes out of bounds, you play another under a penalty of one stroke from where you played the first shot. If in driving from the tee you are permitted to tee-up another ball. On any other shot the ball must be dropped.

MICHIGAN LAD LIKE SARAZEN

ANN ARBOR, May 28.—From caddy boy to world's champion is quite a leap in the golfing world.

And it isn't very often accomplished.

But this little college town, nevertheless, believes it has a youngster who bids fair to emulate the rapid climb of Gene Sarazen and others on the links.

John Talley is this lad's name. Although not yet 18, and only 5 feet 2 inches in height, many critics are already predicting great things for him as a golfer.

John is a caddy at the Ann Arbor Golf Club this summer. In one of the caddy tournaments, he made the first nine holes in 35, which is par, and completed the home stretch in 33.

His average for the 18 holes is continually high around par. In 1922 he was in five caddy meets and was low score lad in all of them.

As has been the case with other golf exponents who have developed into championship caliber, Young Talley started on his golfing career accidentally.

One day five years ago, he ran across an old golf club in the basement of his uncle's cellar. After looking in cans and stones around the yard for a while he took the happy step of buying a golf ball. Since then he has displayed marked improvement.

In the three years that he has been adding to his golfing knowledge and experience and has surprised even his most ardent followers, who see a real future on the links for him.

Incidentally, John comes from a caddy family. His father being an enthusiast of the game, while two younger brothers also play remarkably well for youngsters.

But Joe couldn't be stopped. With him it wasn't a question of winning but whether he could last through the bout without getting a kavo wail. Joe surely was in a class by himself.

And there wasn't every anybody hanging round to dispute his position, either.

But how about old Bill Squires, the lanky Australian heavyweight? Unlike Grimm, the "deacon" didn't enter the ring to be a punching bag. Nevertheless, Bill's regime was a queer one. He won all his first 10 bouts, save one, by the knockout route.

Many odd records have been hung up in the ring. Some bordered on the sensational while others really were pathetic.

Perhaps one of the most unique was Joe Grimm's. Grimm, the "man who couldn't be knocked out," probably got in the way of more punches than any man who ever stepped inside the roped arena.

PACK FRAME FOR YOUR CAMP

IT IS EASY TO MAKE A YUKON

(By L. L. McDONALD.)

Director, Department of Camping, National Council Office, Boy Scouts of America.

WILDERNESS campers know the utility and comfort of an easy pack for carrying heavy equipment and extra provisions. The Yukon pack frame has these advantages; and it can be made into a bed, a stretcher, a sled, or a cart. Best of all, you can make one yourself—at a cost of only $1.19.

The pack frame conforms readily to the back and distributes the pressure evenly. It keeps the load in place, in a compressed flat package, which does not rattle about or offer the extra strain of side motion to throw the hiker off his balance where footing is uncertain. You can use it with shoulder straps, or tump line, or both if desired.

In rocky, barren places or on ice or snow the unpacked frame furnishes a bed, giving padding for hips and shoulders and avoiding the necessity of carrying extra bedding. In emergency, between two poles it forms a stretcher; with poles bent under, it becomes a sled; or, with two light wheels, it makes a cart capable of carrying two packs.

Here's the way to make a Yukon pack frame: Take two pieces of light board, one-half inch thick, two and a half inches wide and 36 inches long. Place them on edge, 18 inches apart, and insert bracers as indicated in the accompanying sketch. Take 10 brass screw hooks and insert five of them at equal distances along each edge of the frame.

Spread over these a heavy canvas cloth, 27 1/2 by 34 1/2 inches, with seven grommet holes in each end. Cut a slot lengthwise in the cloth, and insert the frame by sewing over a patch of canvas or leather. Attach shoulder straps, two inches wide, made of leather or canvas, to the center brace inserted through the slot.

Now remove the screw hooks and after folding the canvas over the sides of the frame and lacing the edges tightly together by passing six yards of rope through the grommet holes, replace the screw hooks by inserting them through the canvas without cutting.

Your duffie bag or load is made into a roll, covered by an extra tarpaulin or canvas, and is laced on firmly by the use of cotton rope, three-eighths or one-half inch thick. The frame is so put together with the screws, so that in case any part of the frame is broken it can be replaced by removing the screws and hewing out from the material at hand a new stick to take the place of the old one.

Lumber will cost 20 cents, canvas 60 cents, 50 feet of cotton rope 20 cents and screws and screw hooks 10 cents—a total of $1.10.

Then he grew too ambitious and came over to this country in search of fame. And he got it without hunting very long!

July 4, 1907, he met Tommy Burns for the world's championship. One good punch was all Burns landed. It came in the first round. And it proved sufficient to send Squires into Dreamland.

After that the Antineodean was in nine battles. In all but one of them he was knocked out. He lost a victory over Jim Roche, who took the count in the fourth round at Dublin.

Burns twice knocked Squires in 1908. When Bill decided to beat it back home.

In his last four bouts Bill Lank, another Australian, always put him to sleep. The final match went only five rounds.

Five rounds did Bill Squires, after starting out like a world beater in nine "slumber" punches in his first 10 battles do a complete reverse in being floored for the count in all but one of his last 10 bouts.

Surely Bill Squires' ring career ranks as one of the oddest in pugilism.

SQUIRES' CAREER IS MOST UNIQUE

Many odd records have been hung up in the ring. Some bordered on the sensational while others really were pathetic.

Perhaps one of the most unique was Joe Grimm's. Grimm, the "man who couldn't be knocked out," probably got in the way of more punches than any man who ever stepped inside the roped arena.

But Joe couldn't be stopped. With him it wasn't a question of winning but whether he could last through the bout without getting a kavo wail. Joe surely was in a class by himself.

And there wasn't every anybody hanging round to dispute his position, either.

Pointers Win Double-Header

HIGH POINT, N. C., May 28.—

High Point strengthened her lead in the Piedmont pennant chase by adding two more games to her winning column when she captured both ends of a double header from Winston-Salem by the scores of 5 to 0 and 5 to 4 respectively. Lefty Rube Eldridge pitched both games, and the wins all helped him along in his pitching record. He allowed six scattered hits and was at no time in danger. In fact he was going so strong that the local manager decided to let him try the second contest and he kept up his good work. He allowed less hits in the second contest but the Twins punched them and made four runs. The box scores of the two games follow:

Red Sox Will Change Hands

(By Chicago Tribune Service)
BOSTON, May 28.—That Robert J. Quinn, present business manager of the St. Louis Browns, is to be the new president of the Boston Red Sox, was indicated here tonight, when the deal for the purchase of the local American League franchise and plant was seemingly within a few hours of completion. President Ban Johnson of the American League, arrived here today to have a hand in the negotiations.

The prospective new owners of the Red Sox, it is said, have insisted that one of the stipulations of the purchase will be that Quinn, be permitted by the head of the American League to transfer his activities to the Boston club of which, it is said, he will be the new head, succeeding Harry Frazee who lost his popularity in Boston by the sale of Babe Ruth and other stars to rival clubs.

The new syndicate is composed of E. M. Schoenberg, owner of the Columbus Club in the American Association, Palmer A. Winslow, a glass manufacturer and Dr. Robert Drury Schoenberg was associated with "Bobby" Quinn when the latter was business manager of the Columbus Club. All three are noted baseball fans and it is said are eager to restore to the Boston American League team the popularity it enjoyed when Joseph Lannin was owner, and under whom the world's championship was won by the Red Sox. It is hinted that the purchase price is in the neighborhood of $1,000,000.

EFFICIENCY IS LOW
ST. LOUIS, May 28.—There is a constant complaint there today of inefficiency among building artisans by contractors and builders. Contractors say they have no objection to paying higher wages if they can be assured of high efficiency among the workers they employ.

No Check to Cheek Stuff Here

Strange holds are all when she's wearing the new Modesty Bumpers. If he don't keep his distance—now! Three padded spikes will set him thinking. But the French innovation being demonstrated in Chicago by Bee Thompson and O. F. Sterling isn't taking very well with the younger set, 'tis said.

Raleigh Beat Locals In Close Game Yesterday

In a nip-and-tuck baseball game here yesterday afternoon between Danville and Raleigh one error spoiled the difference between victory and defeat. Two errors on the part of one player contributed to the scoring of runs on the part of the visitors, but one of the errors was not so glaring, but after all errors are part of the game and a player is not to be censured too harshly for his mistakes; the same man may win a game today or tomorrow and he's a hero—for the nonce.

Second Baseman Carey, of Raleigh, suffered a dislocated shoulder blade in the third inning when he hurried out to first base for the last out of the inning. Physicians reset the dislocation, but the player suffered a great deal of pain both at the park and later in his room at the Burton hotel, where he was taken after the accident. Sessions replaced Carey at second, while Edwards took Sessions' place at first.

Raleigh began the fracas by scoring two runs—two absolutely unnecessary runs in the first. Carey was walked. He stole second while Lennon fled out to center. Duncan was safe on Overton's error. Graves fled out to right. Smith doubled and two men scored. Duncan hot-footing it all the way home from first.

The visitors added three more in the sixth on a single, a double and a home run. In the seventh three more in the same manner. Lennon singled, Duncan was out, but Graves singled and Smith brought the two and himself home with a fly over the center-field fence. It was one of the longest hit balls of the season.

Danville's first scoring came in the third, when two runs were sent across on three singles and a walk. Another was added in the fifth on a single, a sacrifice, a stolen base and a sacrifice fly.

The Tobaccoists' big inning was the sixth, when four runs were made on three singles and a home-run by Dorman.

DYE DISPUTE WAS SETTLED MONDAY

(By The Associated Press)
BALTIMORE, May 28.—A dispute between the treasury department and A. Schumacher & company, consignee of the cargo of dyestuffs brought to America by the German submarine Deutschland on the first undersea transatlantic voyage was settled today when the sum of $10,000 was mutually agreed upon. The treasury sought $40,000. No suit could be filed because the dyestuffs were imported when the Deutschland reached Baltimore January 10, 1916, and the statute of limitations is in effect. Henry and Paul Hilkin, owners of Schumacher & company, however, admitted that $10,000 was due and agreed to arbitrate the matter.

Traveled For Eight Years And She Hasn't Missed A Train

BY JOSEPHINE VAN DE GRIFT

(Special to The Bee)
PHILADELPHIA, May 28.—Speaking of endurance tests, consider Mrs. Anna Trenchard, champion commuter of the east coast.

Every morning for eight years Mrs. Trenchard has commuted from Philadelphia to New York. And she's never has the train pulled out of the station.

The circumstance is all the more remarkable because it is a 7 o'clock train which Mrs. Trenchard catches and heretofore there have been certain little matters of getting the house in order and setting out breakfast for two young sons before she has hurried down to the station. But never has the train pulled out of the station without Mrs. Trenchard being comfortably settled in the green plush.

Years ago Mrs. Trenchard assumed charge of the Dr. Talcott Williams' collection of newspaper clippings. When the collection was moved to New York to become a part of Columbia University, Mrs. Trenchard went with it.

But move to New York to be nearer her job? Never.

Delectable as it might be to work in New York, Mrs. Trenchard still realized that Philadelphia was the ideal place to sleep in.

So every morning at 7 she boards the train and is whirled over the 90 miles intervening between home and business. The day's work done, she is whirled back again.

Four hours a day spent in traveling! Summed up it means that Mrs. Trenchard spends two months a year clamped up in a railroad coach.

One hundred and eighty miles a day! In a year Mrs. Trenchard could go around the world twice and probably have enough mileage left over to land her in Steubenville, Ohio.

But what is a mere matter of 180 miles a day to a woman who wants her own way about it?

"I don't waste a minute," she maintains, "and what's more, other women I see traveling, don't waste a minute either. On the way over in the morning I mark my papers. On my way back at night I relax and rest my eyes."

"Other women that I see are either knitting or sewing or reading something useful. But the men—the minute they get through with their papers start fussing about it."

"Women make the ideal commuters."

As for myself, I'd rather ride 180 miles on the train than go a quarter of the distance on the street car.

"Miss the train? Why, I never missed a train in my life."

Durham Defeats Greensboro 9-8

DURHAM, May 28.—In a game in which both sides hit the ball hard and after, the Bulls won over Greensboro by the close margin of 9 to 8. It appeared to be anybody's game until the last man was out in the ninth inning. The visitors took two pitchers, Lankau and Jackson. Both were ineffective. Rodgers went the entire game for the locals but, too, was hit hard. Both teams played a ragged game in the field, the visitors making five errors and the locals four. The box score follows:

TWO PLAYERS ARE SIGNED UP

Manager Murphy of the Danville Baseball club while announcing last night that today's Ladies Day at the park, said that he had just signed two new players who had arrived from the University of Florida. One is a pitcher, the other third baseman. The new pitcher, whose name is Henry Gray, although he has never played in professional baseball has a good college record, and Murphy believes that he can develop him into a first rate twirler. Quinn, the other new man, is a novice in professional baseball, but he has a good college baseball record. Simultaneous with the announcement of the signing of the two new players, he told of the release of Catcher Love, and his return to the Charlotte club from whence he came here. Pitcher Watt has also been returned to the Norfolk Club. Toles is to leave shortly. He will likely go to one of the clubs of the Eastern Shore League.

N. Y. Sporting Men Want to See Wills Fight J. Dempsey

(By Chicago Tribune Service)
NEW YORK, May 28.—Prominent sporting men of the Rockaways on Long Island are keen to have a Jack Dempsey-Harry Wills fight staged there, and at a meeting of the Rockaway Board of Trade today plans were formulated to seek to have such a match arranged for Labor Day. Dempsey can accept a guarantee of $250,000 or a percentage of the receipts, according to the board's plan, and to show good faith the board has posted two certified checks with the bank of the Manhattan Company, at Rockaway Park. One of these is for $50,000, to be paid over to Dempsey when he signs articles, agreeing to fight Wills and another for $100,000, which will be turned over to him in a few days before the fight takes place.

The whereabouts of $4,700 for which the Boston Arena Athletic Club has an attachment against Floyd Johnson, a principal in the milk fund benefit boxing bouts at the Yankee Stadium, May 12, was the bone of contention at an examination today of Tex Rickard, promoter before Supreme Court Justice Mitchell in Bronx county.

Rickard said that a few days before the benefit he was served with an order of the Supreme Court making a "writ" named the "assess" of all the "business" of Johnson and his manager Charles Cook and in consequence he sent the money of these two to Pa on the day of the fight. He said he did not know the first name of Pa.

George W. Riley, counsel for the Boston organization, which is suing Johnson for alleged breach of contract to fight Bill Roper February 9, last stated at the close of the hearing he did not think there had been any misconduct on the part of Rickard. He will try to have Pa brought into court.

MOVING OF R.M. WAS CONSIDERED

RICHMOND, Va., May 28.—Trustees of Randolph-Macon college are today considering internally the matter of moving the college from Ashland, Va., and making it a part of the American University, at Washington, to become a part of the institution which the Methodists of the country are seeking to establish in that city. The matter will be formally presented to the trustees on June 11. Several cities of the State, when the matter of moving the college was first considered, made offers for the college, but none has been accepted. If the move is made it means that the present property will be devoted to the work of the Methodist orphanage, the conference institution for orphans of Methodists and that the property of the orphanage near here, worth perhaps $2,000,000, will be sold.

(By The Associated Press)
INDIANAPOLIS, May 28.—Jimmy Murphy, winner of last year's five-hundred-mile automobile race, showed the greatest speed of fourteen drivers who qualified their cars today to participate in the annual event here Memorial Day. His time for ten miles was 5:45.94, an average of 104.05 miles an hour.

Twenty-two drivers to date have qualified their mounts for the race, which will begin at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. Among those who successfully passed their trials today are three Goiman cars.

Murphy's performance in an eight-cylinder machine with the nearest approach to the record making time of 108 1/2 miles per hour established Saturday by Tompkins, Milton, Cliff Durant and Ralph De Palma were the only other drivers to hurl their cars around the oval at a speed greater than 100 miles an hour.

Somnolent Shelby

Is Excited About

the Coming Fight

BY J. J. DELANEY.

SHELBY, Mont., May 28.—Somnolent Shelby, sleepy cattle town for many years, sits up rubbing its eyes and wondering what it is all about. Up to last August the only activity to disturb each uneventful day was the five-minute halt of the coast trains, as they stopped to take on water.

The cattle days are nearly over for this section. Farmers fenced off the grazing sections, and tried to raise grain but the blistering Montana heat shriveled the wheat and corn before a fair start. For four years there was not a successful crop reported in this section.

Last August, Gordon Campbell, living up in the Sweet Grass Arch, 20 miles north, found oil. Shelby yawned when it heard the news and turned over for another nap. If some one had reported a bumper crop on this homestead land, that would have been something to talk about. But oil was something to put into Ford and tractors.

One week later, when the trains started dumping off drillers, wildcaters, geologists and all the riff-raff that follows each oil field discovery, Shelby got up into sitting position. This was something.

Excursions to the oil fields were money makers for those who owned wheezy flivvers and good, strong teams.

Shelby is the nearest point to the oil fields. Each week three or four wells were reported in. When the oil boom struck, Shelby had a population of $800. In six months it had 3,000. Mayor Jim Johnson, who presides over the affairs here forgot all about the ten million irrigation project that he was trying to put through and get busy in oil. Starved for money, he didn't know how they would last out another season were offered for what was to them sudden wealth for the oil rights on their land. Shelby was booming. Then a couple of those who had struck it rich in oil decided the town needed something to put it on the map for keeps. Remembering Goldfield, they hit upon a championship fight.

They didn't worry about the money. But how to get the champion's ear. Mike Collins has been exporting fighters from Minneapolis to Great Falls, Butte, Havre and other Montana cities. Mike Collins to them meant boxing, so they didn't think much of the idea until he met a delegation of Shelby business men. He called a mass meeting. The same night checks for $50,000 were placed in a hat passed through the audience. That was the beginning. From then on events moved rapidly.

Now with the fight still over a month away, Shelby's population has gone over the 5,000 mark from a town of one hotel and a very poor one at that.

Main street from a lane of six blocks has stretched to twelve and back off into the flats.

Shelby lies at the bottom of the hills. On the flats, across the railroad tracks there is a camp of oil workers of a thousand or more. They sleep in bunk houses or tents. Each night they advance on the main street, and mingle with those who have moved back from the town and up on the hills.

Several dozen shacks spring up every day. Those clanking up on the hills behind the town each morning see a changed landscape with each glance.

"WHITE PLAGUE" WARS WITH BOLSHEVISM ON RELIGION

BY DON P. BIRCHMAN
(Special to The Bee)

ERIE, Pa., May 29.—Tuberculosis is joining Bolshevism in a platoon war on religion in crushed and bleeding Central Europe. Trailing in starvation's wake, it is exacting an appalling toll among the populace on Christianity's firing line. Such is the pathetic picture Michael Cardinal Faulhaber, archbishop of Munich, painted in an interview here.

MICHAEL CARD. FAULHABER

"Our priests and nuns and the other religious workers, already slowly dying from malnutrition, fall easy victims to this dread disease," explains his eminence. "Thousands have contracted it. Thousands more are suffering from softening of the bones owing to lack of proper food. Operations are out of question because of prohibitive costs."

No Work Available.

"Other thousands are sacrificing their scanty morsels to hordes that storm their doors pleading for something to eat. They labor on indefatigably, without thought of themselves, until they're no longer able to remain on their feet."

"So, too, with the little children in the orphanages. And with men and women who are roaming the streets crying for work. But there is no work to give them."

"In the midst of all this poverty, disease and distress the materialistic philosophy of Bolshevism is certain to appeal. Bolshevism, however, is easier to combat than the plague. That we cannot starve off without aid from the outside."

"Only the generosity of other nations can save us. Your people have been very kind to us. And I know they shall be equally as kind throughout the dark days we have yet to go through."

"We appeal for no alms—merely a life, as you Americans put it. Some day we hope to pay our debt to the last mark."

"I have come to the United States to express my country's appreciation for what you have done toward leading us out of the chaos. My visit is the realization of my life's most cherished ambition."

"Living with America," he continues, "when I was a chaplain at the front, I was impressed with the high regard our troops had for your soldiers. We found our most courageous for our kindest friends."

"With great expectation I set foot upon your soil. Nor have I been disappointed. I feel as though I were in another world."

The cardinal is one of the most distinguished theologians of modern times. From his pen have come many of the better known works on exegetical and homiletic nature.

Despite his profound scholarship, he is remarkably democratic. Cardinal Faulhaber cleverly circumvented an attempt to kiss his ring. He preferred the American way of shaking hands.

His face was wreathed in a pleasant smile. But a look of sadness displaced it as he told of the misery of his people.

His eminence got along splendidly without the assistance of an interpreter. He speaks excellent English.

Good Morning Judge!

Having otherwise a quiet night, police last night decided to round up and "clean up" as they termed it, a certain alleged notorious house on Colquhoun street. The place in question is operated by Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Denton. They were hauled before the court this morning on a charge of maintaining a disorderly and ill-governed house. A continuance was asked by Mrs. Denton and the cases were set for Thursday. In connection with the house, Dallas Mooney was this morning arraigned on a vagrant charge. He was given until Saturday to put up a bond of $500 for his good behavior for twelve months or serve a little time in jail. He was assessed five dollars and costs for driving an automobile without a permit. John Brown, son of Mrs. Denton also faces a charge of loitering but was not present, it being said that he was ill. Officers are alleged to have watched the place for some little time last night and one of them said this morning that dozens of men went in to the house and came out last night.

H. E. Humphrey drew a fine of $51 and costs and was given a suspended sentence of thirty days for having a bottle of whisky in his pocket. Taylor Harvey, colored, was fined $2.50 for driving a machine without a city permit and an additional $5 and costs for operating a machine without a chauffeur's license.

D. H. Haymore was fined $5 and costs for not having proper license tag on his machine.

A warrant against C. L. McKnight, charging him with violating the Naps act was dismissed. Officers recently found a gallon of whisky in the rooming house he operates on lower Main street. It was proven that it was his bona fide home, and he was allowed this amount by law.

Decision was reserved in the case of Charles Orchard, charged with violating the city ordinance by parking on the East side of Union street. Mr. Orchard contended that his touring car was used for business purposes only and that he only leaves it there long enough to go into his store and get material.

Kiwanis Club Is Now In Session

(By The Associated Press)

ATLANTA, Ga., May 28.—A letter of bringing about closer relationship between the farmers and city folk and obtaining a "square deal" for the rural population—a future chapter in the Kiwanis Club's history—has been carried out during the past year. George H. Ross, of Toronto, Canada, told the Kiwanis Club International in their seventh annual convention here today.

The declaration was made in his annual address, following welcoming ceremonies in which Clifford Walker, president of the Georgia Kiwanis Club, presided. The address was made by Harry E. Kerr, immediate past president of Baltimore.

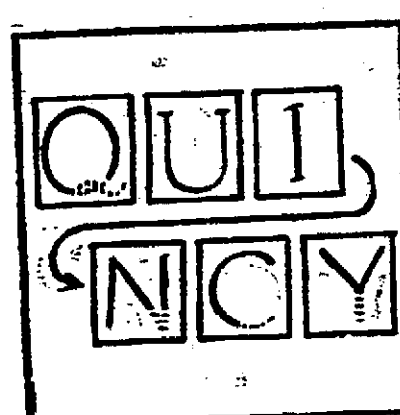

It was estimated tonight by convention officials that more than 4,000 delegates and visitors from the four corners of the Kiwanis world of the United States and Canada had reached the city where others were to arrive.

Preliminary activities during the day included a luncheon at the city hotel, where the delegates were laid for the night and given a tour of the city. The delegates were then taken to the Kiwanis Club hotel, where they were given a tour of the city and the club's activities.

Daily Puzzle

The keyboards of various makes of typewriters furnish many interesting studies. On a standard, single-shift machine, a capital letter and the corresponding small letter appear on the same key. What is the smallest number of keys necessary to include all the letters of the alphabet, and the figures 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 0, no two figures appearing on the same key?

Yesterday's answer:

The six lettered cards may be formed into the name "Quincy" as shown in the drawing. The dotted lines show the portion of each letter that was hidden by an overlapping card. Thus what appeared to be letter "Q" turns out to have been a "Q," while the "C" may have been mistaken for a "Q."

Oh-hum! Another!

Portraits of the "most beautiful" in various parts of the universe stream in. This is Miss Lena Regis, declared as the most beautiful of her type in Italy.

CAR MEN TO STRIKE

CHICAGO, May 28.—Unless traction officials and employees can reach an agreement this week, it is said that a demand will be made for a strike vote at the meeting of the Carmen's Union next Monday.

Leaders of the employees declared today such a vote would show 99 per cent. of the men in favor of the strike.

Car men demand a resumption of the eighty-cent an hour wage of a year ago, contending that the cost of living again has increased, that there have been general wage increases in other industries and that the contention that the buying power of seventy cents an hour exceed that of eighty cents last year, has not been borne out.

Traction officials declare that the company has not sufficient revenue to make a seven-cent fare to meet the demand.

MAKES HERSELF AT 62 LIKE MAIDEN
OF 19 BY OPERATION

A woman, 62 years old, but with a face and figure of a sub-deb, 19 years old, is Edna Wallace Hopper, one of the former wives of De Wolfe Hopper, whose appearance in Danville has been arranged by the management of the Broadway. Miss Hopper will be here in person Friday and Saturday and from the stage and through the medium of motion pictures will give to the women and men of Danville the secret of how she maintained, or regained her youth. First of all she has a new face. It was given her through "plastic surgery." She stepped into a hospital in Los Angeles she admits, with her face old, wrinkled with the furrows of age which powder and cosmetics could neither hide nor efface. Twelve days later she stepped into the same hospital. It is related, with every appearance of a young lady and rushed the doctors and nurses into embrace while she told how happy she was to get back her youthful face.
